Washington Schoolboy Faces Annual Tragic Event.
ENROLLMENT PROVES LARGE

Assistant Superintendent Hughes Issues Circular of Instruction on Changes in High School Courses. New Order of Things Allows Wide Latitude in Selection of Studies.

"Johnnie—e-e! You, Johnnie—e-e! Come in the house this minute! Where have you been? School's been out for two hours! No, you haven't, now! You know you've been off somewhere all afternoon!"

Johnnie had dragged away from school with almost as slow and reluctant step as he had gone in the morning, and his entrance at home was with the same accompaniment as his departure in the morning.

School was out early. There wasn't much to do. Johnnie knew that away down in his heart, and his conscience smote him, but he would even do worse for the pleasure of the reunion in the playground after dismissal with his boon companions of years previous.

Grand Reunion Takes Place.

"Well, there's Red! Where you been, Red?" was his exclamation, as he took the last landing in a jump and alighted with a thud that brought reproof from his new teacher. "What chow been doing? Dere's Spider, too! Hello, Spider! Whose room are you in? Huh? You are! Gee, she's nice; wish I was too!"

So there was one grand, big reunion in the playground. The rain poured, but no matter; incidents of vacation time, and experiences in the swimming hole overshadowed the gloom of the opening of school and the weather. It was a long time before the boys thought of the home, and when he finally turned that way, drenched to the skin, his greeting was very much similar to his send-off, which morning send-off was echoed throughout the neighborhood something like this:

Hard Getting Started.

"You Johnnie! Ain't you out of bed yet? Get up, you little rascal! Don't you know you have got to go to school?"

And twenty minutes later, again the shrill cry, "Johnnie! come down here this minute. It's almost 8 o'clock, and your breakfast is getting cold." And again, "Pa, won't you speak to Johnnie?"

Pa enters the room.

"Don't you hear your mother?" he emphasizes angrily, and gets a surly "Yes, sir."

And after a final pat to his well-plastered hair and a brush to his slick and span trousers and new shirt, and final jerk at his stiff tie, he went down, thumping his heels on each step. At the first admonition to hurry, the protests welled from his despairing heart:

"It's raining awful hard, ma, and I'll get all wet, and ruin my clothes, and maybe ketch cold and die." These and many others met with reproof, and the dialogue ended with a surly:

"Well, I don't wanna go to school," that ended in a wail, following a loud positive clasp. This was forgotten, however, in a mother's caress and final inspection, a little twist to the tie, and Johnnie started.

Fateful Ring of School Bell.

"Johnnie, have you got your rubbers on? Well, you come back this instant and get them." "I don't wanna wear any old rubbers," Johnnie answered, as he began peering under the sofa and behind doors.

Once in the school playground, he forgot, for a moment, however, his desolation in a mad romp with his old acquaintances of the year before. It was not long, though, before there was a deep knell from the belfry, that sounded in the dismal morning air like the wail for the departed soul; and with due admonition Johnnie fell into line.

He discovered, according to his anticipations, the first day was a more or less short one, and there was no work. He then began to fancy that even the rain he had welcomed in the morning was against him, too, as he could not go out after being dismissed.

Enrollment Unusually Heavy.

Despite the rain, the enrollment was unusually heavy. Many buildings were crowded beyond their capacity, and in several rooms pupils were seated on the extra chairs, and in some instances on the teacher's platform. The normal size of a grade is forty-eight pupils or under, but in a number of rooms there were nearly sixty.

Teachers and pupils became acquainted, and preparations were made for an earnest start to-day. Yesterday was taken up in assigning the children, and transferring them from one grade to the other constituted the day's work.

Johnnie's older brother, who went to the high school for the first time, came back home with a proud and haughty spirit, and when Johnnie sought to fraternize with him, disdained him with uplifted hand. William was a Mr. now. His teacher had called him Mr.—Mr. Wiggs, she said—and all the other pupils to be in the class with him called him Mr.; teacher told them.

Tells About High School Courses.

Assistant Superintendent Hughes has gotten up, in circular form, a long list of instructions, pointers, and general information about the various high school courses, that will be distributed to all those desiring them. The circulars are complete, giving all possible information, even to the text-books prescribed and their price. It contains the full courses, and gives the elective studies in each from which selection may be made. The details of the new four-year course at the Business High School are given, as is also the information that pupils may transfer from the two-year to the four-year course at Business at the end of the first year without condition, but that pupils transferring on completion of the second year of the short course, must take extra work in language or science in place of beginners' shorthand, law, and possibly some typewriting.

Business Course Requirements.

A diploma will be given on completion of the four-year course; a certificate, on completion of the two-year course.

Drawing will be required the first year and will be elective other years.

Music or public speaking will be required of all pupils in each year.

Physical training will be required of all pupils in each year.

In the first and second years, an additional hour per week will be given to oral reading and spelling.

A foreign language begun in first or second year must be continued for at least three years.

A pupil may elect back more than one year, only by consent of the principal.

Academic School Requirements.

A major study is one to which is regularly assigned at least four periods of school time per week.

Candidates for diplomas must pursue four major subjects in each year, including all the prescribed studies. Under certain conditions, three major subjects in the fourth year may be accepted for graduation. Students who from any cause fail to meet these requirements, are enrolled as "unclassified," and cannot graduate until the prescribed work is satisfactorily made up.

One year of science is required of every pupil.

If only three years of foreign language work be taken, one and the same language must be taken continuously.

Physical culture is prescribed for all pupils.

Spelling is prescribed for all pupils in the first and second years as a part of the English course.

Drawing one hour per week is required of all pupils in the first and second years. It is required of all normal candidates through the four years.

Pupils in the third and fourth year may be permitted to substitute major drawing, light householding of the home, or that elective subject, exclusive of the required year of science. Such arrangement will be made by the principal only upon the presentation of good and sufficient reason, and all such courses must be planned in detail.

Mechanical drawing is required of all pupils taking third-year mathematics.

A review course in arithmetic, as a minor elective, two hours weekly, will be open to fourth-year pupils.

Any subject newly elected in the third year must be continued through the fourth.

Pupils desiring two years work in physics, chemistry, or biology must take that subject during the second or third years.

Choral work in music is prescribed for all pupils.

Pupils May Lighten Load.

In cases in which the school work is too heavy for faithful pupils of frail health, it is suggested that parents confer with the principal of the school to arrange for lightening the child's burden by lengthening the time for accomplishing the prescribed course.

Parents are requested to visit the high schools which their children attend for conference with the principal and teachers. The most convenient time for seeing the latter is at the close of school in the afternoon.

The military organization, as a general body, and the athletic association and debating societies of the several schools are the only organizations recognized or sanctioned by the high schools. For the sake of his studies, it is not advisable for any pupil to devote his attention to the work of more than one, or at most two, of the above organizations.

PLAYGROUND FOR GEORGETOWN

Suggestion Made to Purchase Lot Out of Old Burial Ground.

The condemnation by the Commissioners of lot P of the old Presbyterian Burying Ground, Georgetown, upon which it is proposed to establish a public playground, is suggested by Allen W. Mallory, a real estate broker, of 1417 G street northwest, the cost of said proceedings, together with the findings of the jury as to the value of the ground, to be deducted from the amount agreed upon for the cemetery property, viz. $16,000.

According to Mr. Mallory, negotiations have been pending several months with the heirs to this property, who, while they are apparently willing to have the property sold, have not as yet set a price or stated that they would accept the price offered.

The papers in the case were yesterday referred to the corporation counsel for an opinion as to whether the Commissioners have authority to institute condemnation proceedings, and for information as to whether there is anything in the original grant of land which would invalidate its purchase in case it were acquired for a playground site.

BIG PLANS FOR PLAYGROUNDS.

Supervisor Curtis Asks $202,840. Wants Swimming Pools.

Dr. Henry S. Curtis, supervisor of public playgrounds, yesterday submitted to the Commissioners his estimates for the next fiscal year, a total of $202,840, as compared with an appropriation of $80,000 for the present fiscal year.

Dr. Curtis requests $186,000 for the purchase and improvement of sites for playgrounds for four school divisions; $25,000 for equipment, maintenance and supervision; $40,000 for the installation of swimming pools and bathhouses at the Roseade playgrounds; $5,000 for grading, planting of hedges, and other improvements at the Roseade site; $10,000 for the erection of a building for shower baths, toilets, lockers, and storage at the Cardozo site, and $1,000 for the improvement of the James Creek Canal site. He recommends also an appropriation of $600 for clerical assistance and $200 for office rent, these last two expenses having been heretofore borne by the Washington Playgrounds Association.

KNIGHTS WILL ENTERTAIN.

Potomac Council Plans Fine Programme for To-morrow.

Potomac Council, No. 432, Knights of Columbus, will open the fall season of entertainment at the Knights of Columbus Temple, on E street northwest, between Sixth and Seventh streets, to-morrow evening, with what promises to be a delightful melange of amusements, culminating in a banquet.

A notable list of entertainers has been secured for the programme, it is stated, while for the entire party, with which the evening's diversions will close, fifty prizes have been offered. The first ladies' prize is declared to be a valuable gold watch, while the forty-nine others are said to be of almost equal interest.

The entertainment will begin at 8 o'clock. "This entertainment marks the first 'affair' held by the order of the local chapter of the K. of C. of the present season. The membership of Potomac Council is said to be made up of some of the most active members of the order, and the committee, including John W. Cotter, chairman, say that the other four councils will be kept busy in order to 'make good.'"

ASK RELEASE FROM ASYLUM.

Lawyers Seek Freedom for Chicago Woman.

Attorneys Ralston & Siddons yesterday filed in the District Supreme Court a petition asking that a jury be impaneled to inquire into the sanity of Mrs. Imogene Morrow, a patient at the Government Asylum for the Insane. According to the statement made to the court, Mrs. Morrow has been incarcerated at the asylum since May 29 last, following the verdict of a jury adjudging her to be of unsound mind. In the meantime, it is averred, she has recovered her reason, but owing to the absence of Dr. White, the superintendent of the institution, the remaining authorities will not undertake the responsibility of discharging her.

The case will be brought to the attention of a jury called to determine lunacy cases the latter part of this week. Mrs. Morrow's sisters are in the city awaiting her release, so that she may be taken back to her old home in Chicago.

MAKES REQUESTS TO CHARITY

August Schmiedie Divides $20,000 Among Friends and Needy.

Makes Request in His Will That He Be Interred Without Religious Services.

August Schmiedie, whose will was filed for probate yesterday, makes as his dying request that he be buried without religious ceremony of any kind. He leaves an estate of $20,000, giving to charity $1,000. The remainder of his property is to be divided among his relatives.

To his brother, Wilhelm Schmiedie, $3,000; nephew of brother, Hans Baus, $500; August Chapin, $100, and to Josephine Hartung $200 is given by the testator, all of whom reside in Germany.

To Simon Wolf, for the benefit of the Hebrew Orphan Asylum of Atlanta, Ga. $100 is bequeathed; Garfield Hospital receives $1,000; Ruppert's Home $1,000, and to Julius Duerhing $1,000 is given for distribution among needy persons of his own choice.

The other beneficiaries are Paulson, Erickson, $500; Herman Ingersen, $100, and the residue of the estate to his brother Wilhelm and wife. To a number of beneficiaries the deceased personal effects are given.

Herman F. Epple, of New York, and Edward Duerhing, of this city, are named as executors.

MORE LIGHT FOR ECKINGTON.

District to Get 150 Gas Lamps—Civic Improvements Discussed.

Eckington is to have 150 incandescent gas lamps, according to the report of Hermann Blau, chairman of the committee of streets and avenues of the North Capital and Eckington Citizens' Association, at a meeting of that organization in St. Martin's Hall last night.

Mr. Blau reported that the installation of lamp posts has begun, the Commissioners having assured the committee that Eckington is to have as many lights as are necessary to the proper illumination of the neighborhood.

It being the initial meeting of the fall and winter, the report of the executive committee was submitted, showing that requests for a number of improvements have been granted. A truck house in the vicinity of North Capitol street and Rhode Island avenue, it was reported, is to be included in the Commissioners' next estimates to Congress. With regard to the request for a cement sidewalk on both sides of O street northwest, between North Capitol and First street, the association was informed that the Commissioners do not feel justified in ordering the work in the absence of a request from property owners.

The following were elected members of the association: W. F. Reed, F. B. McGuen, John F. King, and J. W. Jones.

This Is the Only Brewery in Washington Having a Modern Bottling Plant

THE final steps in the production of beer, and in many respects the most important, are AGING and BOTTLING. Let these be faulty, and fine materials and careful brewing are of small avail.

In these, as in all other respects, Heurich Beers are above criticism.

Senate BEER
CHR. HEURICH BREWING CO.
WASHINGTON, D.C.
BOTTLED AT THE BREWERY.
GUARANTEED
UNDER THE FOOD AND DRUGS ACT, JUNE 30th, 1906. SERIAL NUMBER 2801.

Our immense storage facilities (capacity 50,000 barrels) enable us to age our beers from SIX to TEN months—twice the time many breweries allow. Bilioussness from drinking Heurich Beers is unheard of. The provisions for sanitary bottling are perfect. Maerzen, Senate, and Lager are conducted through hermetically sealed pipes direct from the vats into sterilized bottles and kegs. No other Washington brewery is similarly equipped.

Weigh these facts and you'll readily see why YOUR beer should always be Heurich's.

Maerzen and "Senate" 6 to 10 months old, $1.75 case of 2 doz. Heurich's "Lager" about 4 months old, $1.50 case of 2 doz.; 50c rebate for empty bottles. Delivered in unlettered wagons if desired. Postal or phone W. 37.
